Registration is now underway for the Global Junior Challenge ^[1], the international competition that rewards the innovative use of technology for education and social inclusion. The final event will be held in Rome on October 25-27, 2017.

Promoted by the City of Rome and organised every other year by the Fondazione Mondo Digitale, the competition promotes the strategic role of new technology in didactic innovation, social integration, sustainable development and the reduction of world poverty.

Eligible projects must be active as of December 31, 2016. Registration deadline is April 28, 2017.

The competition is open to schools and university, public and private institutions, cultural cooperatives and associations, enterprises, and citizens of all ages and nationalities.

To submit a project, please complete the on-line application on the GJC website (www.gjc.it ^[1]).

The call for the INNOVATING TEACHERS is also open. To participate you will need an updated CV, a photo a short motivational letter for your candidature.
