Descrizione del progetto

Description Frase (max. 500 characters):

The project will benefit 1000 girls and young women of slums of TM Khan City through advanced IT and job skills in conducive and more learning environment.

Project Summary (max. 2000 characters):

The project is about the provision of low cost facilities of IT education to poor girls of the slums of Tando Muhammad Khan. SCF has established a Girls Resource Centre-GRC in 2009 in Tando Muhammad Khan with the idea and motive to equip girls of the poor families of the slums of the area with modern IT skills so that they can play active role in income generation for their family in future. The main aims of the establishing this GRC was that because the computers centers in the city mostly are mixed so due to strong gender barrier girls do not feel comfortable to learn while attending such courses at centers because of various social barriers and most of the families does not allow girls to get IT skills with boys, the other reasons was that the existing fee structure of computer education at commercial centers was very high so girls from poor families were not getting benefits from these facilities at local level because the fees structure was not affordable. Keeping these issues in consideration Sindh Community Foundation conducted a need assessment in the area and then developed an idea of Girls Resource to provide IT, carrier planning skills, library facilities and social education on various themes of leadership and gender etc. SCF succeeded to start GRC with support of Mama Cash Netherlands in Sep, 2009 and provided IT training to 119 girls with very minim and low fee structure and also provided career planning sessions to 99 girls and trained groups of 30 active girls on leadership, gender, human rights, confidence building, volunteerism, and life skills awareness. Girls feel very pleasant having learning environment at GRC because it is only for girls where they can speak and express their opinion and thoughts to each other. The current admission of computer course at GRC is 50 girls while computers are only 5 so most of time practical things are not completed by each trainees, there is need of more 10 computers so that girls can work on practical of computer with huge time and these expanded facilities can reach more new 200 girls from the poor families for computer education and more girls will get benefits from this. At GRC girls/trainees were also provided learning and awareness on various social issues through debate competitions, seminars on women rights, and importance of IT for girls, newsletters women voice to encourage them to write articles on social issues of women, library facilities updated their current affairs knowledge and information and job information. So the GRC has very good place where women meet each other and discuss their issues freely and their confidence has increased. Till the date GRC has been trained 220 girls and 180 girls for career planning. Brochure of YRC is attached for detailed understanding of GRC and facilities for poor girls and successes of the GRC are also highlighted in SCF's annual report 2010 attached here. Sindh Community Foundation (SCF) conducted a survey in the slum settings of Tando Muhammad Khan and opened a dialogue with community members about girls' education and community needs. A report was developed based upon the observations as well as meetings with parents and girls separately. This assessment helped Sindh Community Foundation discover priority problems and determine ways to fix them. See attached for more info.

Obiettivi ed elementi di innovazione

The project was aimed

To train girls in slum areas in Tando Muhammad Khan City on basic and advanced computer skills;

To provide career counseling, awareness, and job skills training to girls;

To establish a Girls Youth Resource Center (GYRC) in order to provide a platform for freedom of expressions, views and discussion;

To build the capacity of 30 girls on social activism and understanding of social issues ranging from confidence building, life skills, HIV/AIDS, RH problems, gender, human rights, social activism, and leadership.

The establishment of Girls Resource Center and providing the integrated facilities to the girls and young women for increasing their income generation opportunities and getting information platforms to get information on job skills and jobs to be active economic actors. Provision of career counseling for encouraging girls for higher education higher education and leadership and social awareness program was the innovative ideas in the area and the GRC has become nervous of the girls empowerment in the area. Library facilitates for girls to prepare for pre entry test for higher education was also new approach. Exposure e of potential girls was conducted with the higher education institution to get know how about the admission systems due to strong gender barrier girls normally rely on their brothers and male family members to do these activities so through visits they became confident and inspired for higher education.
